

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of The Little Peoples Place where my son, Aaron, goes to day care. As you probably know raising a child is no small task. Fortunately for us, Aaron's mother and myself, there is a place that helps us. That place is Little Peoples. From day one I noticed a positive difference in Aaron that can only be attributed to the nurturing environment at the day care. The staff is kind and willing to bend over backwards to help both parents and children, which is a pleasant comfort.

It's good knowing that while I'm at work I don't have to worry about my son. From the time I leave him in the morning until the time I pick him up I know that he is left in capable hands. That's a feeling worth more than words can really express. That's why I support The Little People's Place in their endeavors and hope that you will too.

Sincerely Yours,

Kenneth L. Carrington
