

To Whom It May Concern:

I write to express my opinions about Little People's Place, Inc., and how my daughter benefited while in attendance. My daughter attended Little People's Place, Inc., from January 2001 until June 2003.

At Little People's Place, Inc., the children are taken on both fun and educational trips, which expose them to different places. My daughter went pumpkin picking, she visited Sesame Place, and saw many live performances, many of which I would not be able to take her.

The programs at Little People's Place, Inc., really helped in my daughter's academic and social development. When she left at 3 years old, she could write her name, identify numbers and letters at random, count, recite poems, sing songs, identify shapes and colors, and express herself clearly. I was really surprised when she was able to differentiate between an oval and a circle on the same page.

I am also impressed with their security. From what I have seen, no one is allowed inside the school without an appointment, or unless the teachers can identify them over the security camera. I was not worried about my daughter's safety.

If an individual or a company is thinking of sponsoring a program at Little People's Place, do not hesitate. The director, Theresa McNeil, works hard to make the school a success. My daughter is performing far beyond her age level and I attribute much of her success to Little People's Place, Inc.

Joan Hall